ALL OF LIFE IS ONE BIG GREY AREA

YOU BRING COLOUR TO IT!

FOR VISUAL INDIVIDUALS

A MINDSHIFT QUICKSHEET

Your Inner Colour and the changes it goes through.

The beautiful thing about the colour spectrum is choice. You may be stuck in one colour path or another.

You may see more or less colours than other people.

Only your perspective matters.

Your layout may be displayed differently than others

How you display it is all the matters.

For society we must seem more put together.

And the public rules say that we should always be the colour we first displayed.

We make allowances for Mood swings

And sometimes we dim our lights, to be nice to others

Other times we embolden them, to enforce upon others

But really it's all just for You.

And what your not ever supposed to be is to good, or to bad for your society.

Your society will let you know and it's up to you if you wish to listen. But it's always up to you.

No matter the colour path you are one.

Changing Your Inner Colour or How Your Inner Colour Changes

Some people feel forced to express themselves as one colour when they want to be another

They will learn to make a mask, or become what others make them.

Yet even with the best masks, people may seem a little odd for themselves

With practice you can see this in yourself and others.

Over time it will transmute either in shape or the other colour will shine through

This is nature's way of not allowing denial to win. This is why despite cultural beliefs, deceptive people and even insidious forces. Individuals who are comfortable outwardly expressing their inner colours, even as they are eternally changing, will always win, no matter how large their dreams.

But See the beauty of the spectrum again

If a person is locked in a colour and desires to change their colour, a way is always found with strong will. Always a +/- direction towards ultimate positivity (white) or ultimate receptivity (black) exists. These can lead to a new path for the seeker.

This is why the decisions we make shape our future colours, sometimes despite our best intentions. Or why we must be careful what we wish for.

Even if you live in a colour blind, or darkened society, where everything has been outlawed, you will always have a grey area.

Where you find grey, you find the direction you need to head in.

Begin to Receive Your Desired Outcome IRL

But 2 dimensional though only gets us so far

Because if white is the reflection of all colours and black the absorption than this is a more realistic depiction.

Complete with the inconsistency of a shockwave, alluding to the consistent change, as we work to form a pattern strong enough to stand against whatever tides come our way.

So begin visualizing light in 3 dimensional space

Because the truth of how light works, is the truth of how you work, how your society works and how it all works. The universe included.

No matter if it looks fuzzy, or fractioned behind stained glass.

Or a more traditional view, showing how the world's influences can impact you, but never change your core.

Because the truth of how light works, is the truth of how you work, It IS the truth for how your society works and how it all works. The universe included.

Your truth is always in the center and it connects with everyone else. We just don't how to connect, nor when to let go. When to be positive and when to be receptive.

But these are just colours and you are a person. A real life human being.

So it doesn't seem this simple. It really is though, no matter what you are or what you are going through. No matter what hue, degree, saturation, or colour note you are. Whether you are POSITIVE or RECEPTIVE. Just don't be NEGATIVE and you'll find your path to You, For You and By You..
